CORAM : S.A. BOBDE, J.

DATE : JUNE 21, 2007.

ORAL JUDGMENT :

Admit. By consent heard forthwith.

2. The main contention on behalf of the appellant is that the learned trial Court while granting an injunction has not given sufficient reasons. A perusal of the order discloses that the submission does not appear to be correct. Reasons have been given by the learned trial Court and a prima facie view has been taken. Hence, there is no reason to interfere with the impugned order. Appeal dismissed.

However, in the circumstances, it is appropriate in the interest of justice to decide the Civil Suit No.70/2005 pending before the Ad hoc Additional District Judge, (Fast Track Court), Mapusa. itself within a period of six months from the next date.

S.A. BOBDE, J.
